ANCIENT NEPAL

Journal of the Department of Archaeology

Number 149
March 2002

Editorial Board
Chief Editor
Ms. Sanu Nani Kansakar
Editor
Mr. Chandra Prasad Tripathee
Mr. Prakash Darnal

Published by His Majesty's Government
Ministry of Culture, Tourism & Civil Aviation

The Department of Archaeology
Kathmandu, Nepal
Ancient Nepal

Number 149
March 2002

Editorial Board
Chief Editor
Ms. Sanu Nani Kansakar
Editor
Mr. Chandra Prasad Tripathee
Mr. Prakash Darnal

Context

One day in late 1999, children were playing near the town wall. Suddenly someone was heard saying that the wall was falling down. The children ran away and the wall crumbled down, causing the collapse of the wall. This event was witnessed by a few people who were near the wall.

Lamosang (upper Mustang) had been a forbidden and lost kingdom for centuries. But after 1999, it has been opened for restricted foreign travelers. It is clear that the ancient town was built on the site of the palace, two old compounds being connected by a wall. Many of the houses are now in ruins, and the town wall is being restored. The town wall is made up of rammed earth and stone, with a few wooden gateways. This town wall is given to the people of Lamosang to commemorate their cultural heritage.

Editorial Board
Chief Editor
Ms. Sanu Nani Kansakar
Editor
Mr. Chandra Prasad Tripathee
Mr. Prakash Darnal
Contents

Lomanthang Town Wall:

A Living Monument Awaiting Conservation

--Neel Kamal Chapagain

.......................................................... 1-6

Index of Ancient Nepal

--Ram Bahadur Kunwar

in Collaboration with Basanti Basnyat
Mangita Shrestha

.......................................................... 7-53

नेपाली खण्ड

पृष्ठ

सम्पादन सरकार, सलन सज्जा र देखिएको समस्याहरू

--रोमा गोंघु

प्रधानमन्त्री जम्बुद्वार राष्ट्रका समस्यको नेपाल-भोटु पुक्को ऐतिहासिक सामग्री

.......................................................... 54-59

.......................................................... 60-64