Publications of Michael Aris
an exhaustive bibliography

Books and monographs

Sources for the History of Bhutan Wiener Studien zur Tibetologie und Buddhistmuskunde, Heft 14: Arbeitskreis für Tibetische und Buddhistische Studien Universität Wien, Vienna, 1986. 203p

Edited works and collections

Aris memorial 123

Articles etc.

'Sacred Dances of Bhutan'. Natural History: Journal of the American Museum of Natural History LXXXIX/3 (1980)

'A Transhimalayan Medley'. The Lawrie Journal (Winter 1993)

Announcements

A report on the 5th Himalayan Languages Symposium

About the Symposium

For the first time, the Himalayan Languages Symposium was held in Nepal, in the very heart of the Himalayas, the home of lesser-known indigenous languages which are in urgent need of documentation and linguistic analysis. This has been a unique opportunity for scholars from East and West to exchange their views and establish closer scholarly contacts for future research.

This year's symposium was held at the Kathmandu Guest House in the heart of Kathmandu's tourist area. The symposium was jointly sponsored by the Central Department of Linguistics, Tribhuvan University, the Royal Nepal Academy, and the Linguistic Society of Nepal.

The Permanent Secretariat for this annual Symposium is maintained at Leiden University in the Netherlands. Previously, the Himalayan Languages Symposium has been convened at Leiden, Noordwijkerhout; Santa Barbara, California; and Pune, India.

The symposium programme

A call for papers was sent out to over 160 scholars in various countries of the Americas, Europe and Asia who are engaged in research on subjects related to Himalayan languages and language communities. The 3-day symposium covered topics including the description of previously undescribed languages, historical and comparative studies, Himalayan languages in theoretical and typological perspective, sociolinguistics and ethno linguistics, language planning, and the prehistory of Himalayan language communities. The symposium programme was published, and included information on the organization of academic sessions, the titles and subject areas of presentations, and the

Projects in progress at his death on 27th March 1999

(1) A study of the life of the Bengali Buddhist pandit Vanaratna (1384-1468).

(2) Edition and revised translation of the Royal Chronicle of Sikkim composed by Thutob Namgyal and Yeshe Drolma, 1908.

(3) A study of the vernacular epics of Bhutan.

Announcements

A report on the 5th Himalayan Languages Symposium

About the Symposium

For the first time, the Himalayan Languages Symposium was held in Nepal, in the very heart of the Himalayas, the home of lesser-known indigenous languages which are in urgent need of documentation and linguistic analysis. This has been a unique opportunity for scholars from East and West to exchange their views and establish closer scholarly contacts for future research.

This year's symposium was held at the Kathmandu Guest House in the heart of Kathmandu's tourist area. The symposium was jointly sponsored by the Central Department of Linguistics, Tribhuvan University, the Royal Nepal Academy, and the Linguistic Society of Nepal.

The Permanent Secretariat for this annual Symposium is maintained at Leiden University in the Netherlands. Previously, the Himalayan Languages Symposium has been convened at Leiden, Noordwijkerhout; Santa Barbara, California; and Pune, India.

The symposium programme

A call for papers was sent out to over 160 scholars in various countries of the Americas, Europe and Asia who are engaged in research on subjects related to Himalayan languages and language communities. The 3-day symposium covered topics including the description of previously undescribed languages, historical and comparative studies, Himalayan languages in theoretical and typological perspective, sociolinguistics and ethno linguistics, language planning, and the prehistory of Himalayan language communities. The symposium programme was published, and included information on the organization of academic sessions, the titles and subject areas of presentations, and the

Projects in progress at his death on 27th March 1999

(1) A study of the life of the Bengali Buddhist pandit Vanaratna (1384-1468).

(2) Edition and revised translation of the Royal Chronicle of Sikkim composed by Thutob Namgyal and Yeshe Drolma, 1908.

(3) A study of the vernacular epics of Bhutan.

