The total solution company
Authorised distributor:
Use original hp inks and paper

Stay away from imitations and refills

The king is now coming out with assertive press statements, making himself and Queen Komal more visible in the public eye, and subtly rebuilding the image of constitutional monarchy. The king, moving remarkably swiftly to fulfill the role of an active constitutional monarch, is seen publicly with an open smile and warm gestures.

The king has increased the tempo with which he is receiving visitors at the palace and Nirmal Niwas: foreign dignitaries, diplomats, politicians, and journalists. The new Gyanendra is seen publicly with an open smile and warm gestures.

The king is an early riser, up by 5:00 AM. Among the first things he does is to go through the morning newspapers. He puts in a gruelling 12-hour day, sometimes in back-to-back meetings. He is seen dealing with press, politicians, military and police affairs, which were usually the responsibility of his brother.

The king, in his first press statement, said, "Unlike my brother, I cannot just sit and watch the country and the people slide into this situation." The statement was aimed at trying to feel the nation's pulse.

Political analysts have been surprised by the ease with which Deuba has managed to bring the main opposition UML on his side. Because of this, some see the king's role as that of being a mediator between the main opposition and the government.

However, the royal massacre has raised questions that still need answers. The king is in a dilemma: to clear his own name, he needs to conclusively prove to the people that he did not order the massacre. The move to involve the judiciary in the investigation is an attempt to do just that. The king is said to be pro-active and is trying to feel the nation's pulse.

There have been at least two known studies—one by government and one by the palace—after the Chief Justice's investigation was completed on 14 June. But no one, not even in parliament, has been told about their findings.

The Nepali Congress said after the massacre the palace needed to be more transparent and people-friendly for its own longevity. The palace's previous moves to change the system and end the monarchy have not been transparent and democratic. It is the easiest way to bring changes in the system, rather than having to go through a democratic process.

The Nepali Congress said after the massacre the palace needed to be more transparent and people-friendly for its own longevity. The palace's previous moves to change the system and end the monarchy have not been transparent and democratic. It is the easiest way to bring changes in the system, rather than having to go through a democratic process.
Three months later

It has been three months since the nightmarish royal massacre traumatised Nepal with the unforgettable horror of an unappreciable crime. Our nation has come to terms with it. This is a new day now when the truth is in the process of being unravelled, but after all that is said and done, it is still far too early to paint any future. Somewhere in the 14th of September, our country has become a quarter of a century behind the world. Events of 1960 are still in session. If our lawmakers knew how to govern rather than to fake it with such absolute sincerity, then the... the royal and un-royal witnesses at the site of the massacre, all the civilian and military staff nearby, Devayani... the present king, Gyanendra, but they wouldn't lay the killings on him completely. They want to believe that “India did... insist that Paras was the culprit, but prefer not to give any credence to his testimony before the commission, and that... King Gyanendra told... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

Even if one were to dismiss the... that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.

In a conflict... able to perform abortions... of the threat-... subject to Indian citizenship. It is a violation of the ambit of the right to equality that is part of the basic structure of the constitution. It is... in the present king Gyanendra’s assets “King... Narayanhiti Kanda. A hawker, we are reminded of the truth that lies locked up in a vault inside. With quintessential survival instincts we have moved on... back on explanations of geopolitical intrigue and tangled conspiracies. Our mentality is still stuck at the level of... or royalist) who cared for the country demand that parliament hold hearings on the royal massacre. But other than a few weak... duty it is to use all that is vested in him as constitutional monarch to protect this system of government.
Wild for beauty and health, naturally

The global craze for exotic, natural, herbal products has come to Nepal.

Tale-ban.com

Another great leap backward in Afghanistan.

Tales and travels of medicine from the Taliban movement to the present

H aby2001

There's some good news for Nepali workers headed abroad. The Employment Promotion Commission, under the Employment Promotion Act, 1985, is working to address the problems of Nepali workers abroad. The Commission has revised its rules and regulations to provide better employment opportunities for Nepali youths and help prospective employers in India.

The site also offers useful information for foreign investors in Nepal. The site provides information on Nepal's investment opportunities, business environment, legal system, and cultural norms.

Such initiatives are easy to implement, but their biggest challenge is the lack of a clear policy and regulatory framework. The government needs to work with foreign investors and local businesses to create a favorable business environment in Nepal.

Given the current political and economic situation in Nepal, it is important for the government to continue its efforts to promote foreign investment and provide better employment opportunities for Nepali workers.

There's some good news for Nepali workers headed abroad. The Employment Promotion Commission, under the Employment Promotion Act, 1985, is working to address the problems of Nepali workers abroad. The Commission has revised its rules and regulations to provide better employment opportunities for Nepali youths and help prospective employers in India.

The site also offers useful information for foreign investors in Nepal. The site provides information on Nepal's investment opportunities, business environment, legal system, and cultural norms.

Such initiatives are easy to implement, but their biggest challenge is the lack of a clear policy and regulatory framework. The government needs to work with foreign investors and local businesses to create a favorable business environment in Nepal.

Given the current political and economic situation in Nepal, it is important for the government to continue its efforts to promote foreign investment and provide better employment opportunities for Nepali workers.
Deuba’s debut

Deuba has convinced even his critics that salvation lies in the doctrine of perpetual deal making.

I n the country’s political history, the name of P. Pushpa Kamal Dahal is synonymous with the Maoist movement. His two terms as the seven-time prime minister of Nepal, a position he relinquished to Baburam Bhattarai in 2006, permanently shaped the political landscape of the country. His second term, which began in 2010 and concluded in 2013, made him the longest-serving prime minister in the country’s history. Dahal’s political career, spanning decades, has been marked by a relentless pursuit of power, often at the expense of democratic values.

But in the eyes of his critics, the man who once led the now-defunct Communist Party of Nepal (Maoist Centre) and battled for the overthrow of the monarchy has now turned his sights on a new goal: opposition leader. With the general elections expected to be held in April, Dahal has announced his intention to contest the elections as a candidate for the Unified Communist Party of Nepal (Oli-Deuba).

Dahal’s decision to run in the upcoming elections is seen as a significant shift in his political trajectory. His past forays into electoral politics have been overshadowed by his commitment to the Maoist cause, which he led for more than two decades. His decision to run as an opposition candidate is likely to generate significant debate, given his history of political violence and his role in the armed struggle.

For Dahal, the decision to run against his former ally and Nepali Congress leader Khadga Prasad Oli, who is currently the prime minister, signals a shift towards a more conciliatory approach. However, his past actions, particularly his involvement in the armed struggle and the violent conflict that ensued, will continue to cast a shadow over his campaign.

The move also reflects the changing political dynamics in Nepal, where the once-dominant Maoist movement has been dealt a significant blow. The success of the United Democratic Madhesi Party (UDMF) in recent by-elections, as well as the fragmentation within the Nepali Congress, has opened up opportunities for other political forces to challenge the status quo.

Dahal’s decision is likely to be met with mixed reactions. Supporters of the Maoist movement may view him as a symbol of rebellion and resistance, while critics are likely to see it as a sign of concessions to the establishment. The timing of his announcement, just weeks after the country’s new constitution was adopted, has been interpreted as a calculated move to generate maximum impact.

With the elections fast approaching, Dahal’s campaign will be closely watched, as it could potentially alter the political landscape of Nepal. His past record of political violence and his commitment to the now-defunct Maoist movement will be key factors in determining how the electorate responds to his candidacy.

The political landscape of Nepal is undergoing a significant transformation, with the end of the Maoist-led insurgency and the adoption of a new constitution. Dahal’s decision to run as an opposition leader is likely to be a significant factor in shaping the outcome of the upcoming elections.
Gold rush

Panic struck that the gold rush may be over when three men were arrested last week at a gold mine near Godawari and a fourth was killed. The news of the arrests sparked violent protests in the area, with many locals demanding the release of the suspects. The police have not disclosed the identity of the suspects, but they are believed to be involved in illegal mining activities.

Storm in a teacup

The VDC is facing a storm of criticism from the residents of the nearby village. The VDC, which has jurisdiction over the area, is accused of issuing the cards to people who do not qualify for it. The residents claim that the VDC has been issuing the cards without proper checks and balances.

Eurail pass, Europass

The Eurail pass is a great way to travel around Europe, and the Europass is a great way to travel around Nepal. Both passes offer a wide range of service from which you may have your pick.

Kathmandu-Europe-Kathmandu

Residents of the nearby village could until now make the trip for Rs 100. The VDC's demands of the residents to stop making the trip are now in question.

Detriment to tourism

The VDC's demand to stop the residents from making the trip is detrimental to tourism. The residents are a major source of revenue for the local businesses, and their absence will affect the local economy.

European Rail Network Straight uplinking on 4 July, a day after Channel Nepal. NTV beamed programmes using Intelsat and the quality of programming is the biggest bottleneck for satellite transmission to make business sense. Without quality there is no business.

Nepal Stock Exchange

The Nepal Stock Exchange has decided to list Radisson shares, which will result in the company having over 32,000 shareholders who have subscribed to Rs 150 million worth of stock.

Indian companies

Indian companies have been helping to develop the tourism industry in Nepal. The Indian government has invested heavily in the tourism sector, and the companies have provided significant support.

Freezing frenzy

The rush to buy gold has triggered withdrawals in some banks last week. The new rush to buy gold is due to the escalating prices. The Nepal Stock Exchange has decided to list Radisson shares, which will result in the company having over 32,000 shareholders who have subscribed to Rs 150 million worth of stock.

Connect to Europe

The Nepal-Switzerland Rail Access Development Scheme has been completed, and the railway line is now operational. This will significantly improve the connectivity between the two countries.

Digitizing democracy

The state has a role to play in digitizing democracy. The state cannot, after all, do every imaginable business that a developing society throws up. Yes, it is a capitalist concept, but the state has a role to play in digitizing democracy.

Multilateral agencies

The state has a role to play in digitizing democracy. Multilateral agencies and friendly nations must support the state in digitizing democracy.

Gold rush

The rush to buy gold has triggered withdrawals in some banks last week. The new rush to buy gold is due to the escalating prices. The Nepal Stock Exchange has decided to list Radisson shares, which will result in the company having over 32,000 shareholders who have subscribed to Rs 150 million worth of stock.

Satellite link Nepali diaspora

The satellite link to the Nepali diaspora has been established. This will significantly improve the connectivity between the two countries.

Nepali manipulations

The manipulations of the Nepali government have been very effective in persuading the diaspora to support the government's agenda. The state has a role to play in digitizing democracy. Multilateral agencies and friendly nations must support the state in digitizing democracy.

Freeze in Kathmandu

The freeze in Kathmandu has been very effective in persuading the diaspora to support the government's agenda. The state has a role to play in digitizing democracy. Multilateral agencies and friendly nations must support the state in digitizing democracy.

Eenawari

The Eenawari is a great way to travel around Nepal. The Eenawari is a great way to travel around Nepal. Both passes offer a wide range of service from which you may have your pick.

European Rail Network Straight uplinking on 4 July

The European Rail Network Straight uplinking on 4 July will result in the state having better connectivity with the diaspora.

Nepali companies

The Nepali companies have been helping to develop the tourism industry in Nepal. The Indian government has invested heavily in the tourism sector, and the companies have provided significant support.

Indian companies

Indian companies have been helping to develop the tourism industry in Nepal. The Indian government has invested heavily in the tourism sector, and the companies have provided significant support.

Digitizing democracy

The state has a role to play in digitizing democracy. The state cannot, after all, do every imaginable business that a developing society throws up. Yes, it is a capitalist concept, but the state has a role to play in digitizing democracy.

Multilateral agencies

The state has a role to play in digitizing democracy. Multilateral agencies and friendly nations must support the state in digitizing democracy.
The Kumari house, a quadrangle in the center of Kathmandu, is where the Kumari, a living goddess, resides. The Kumari is revered as a manifestation of Taleju Bhawani, the goddess of sovereignty and protector of the country. The Kumari is a young girl chosen from the Shakya community, and she is the living embodiment of the goddess. The Kumari is a symbol of purity and is believed to have the power to see beyond the physical world.

This year, the Kumari is Preeti Shakya, a 13-year-old girl who is in her first period. Despite her young age, she is a brave and strong-willed girl who has been chosen to carry the chariot of the goddess Indra. The Kumari is protected by two other gods, Bhairab and Ganesh, and these gods are also chosen from the Shakya community.

The Kumari's house is a simple structure with a small temple in the middle. The Kumari is never seen without her veil, and she is never shown in public except during the Indra Jatra festival. On this festival, the Kumari is carried in a chariot through the streets of Kathmandu, accompanied by her godesses and guards. The chariot is taken to the temple of Indra, where the Kumari performs a ritual dance and offers prayers to the god.

The Kumari is a symbol of the power of Nepal, and the festival of Indra Jatra is a time of great celebration. The festival lasts for a week, and during this time, the Kumari is carried in the chariot every day. The chariot is decorated with flowers and ornaments, and the Kumari is dressed in a resplendent red and gold costume. The Kumari is carried on a palanquin, and she is accompanied by a troupe of music and dance performers.

The Kumari's chariot is taken up to Nardevi and turns east through Kilagal and then towards Bhedasingh and back to Darbar. This is a traditional procession that has been followed for many years. The Kumari is carried in the chariot every day, and she is never shown in public except during the Indra Jatra festival.

In the Kumari's house this week, we were taken to the living goddess. We offered her a basket of fruits and Newari sweets. The Kumari's caretakers are efficient, and they ensure that the Kumari is always well taken care of. The Kumari is well loved by all, and she is always seen with a smile on her face.

Despite her young age, the Kumari is a strong and brave girl. She is a symbol of the power of Nepal, and she is a living goddess. She is protected by the gods Bhairab and Ganesh, and she is a symbol of the power of the goddess Taleju Bhawani.

On Sunday, after the long and exhausting day of the festival, the Kumari returned to her home. She is now back home with her parents, and she is enjoying every bit of life. By the time the chariot had reached Gokul Nardevi, the Kumari had already reached the time of her next period. The Kumari is taken in the chariot every day, and she is never shown in public except during the Indra Jatra festival.

The Kumari is a symbol of the power of Nepal, and the festival of Indra Jatra is a time of great celebration. The festival lasts for a week, and during this time, the Kumari is carried in the chariot every day. The chariot is decorated with flowers and ornaments, and the Kumari is dressed in a resplendent red and gold costume. The Kumari is carried on a palanquin, and she is accompanied by a troupe of music and dance performers.

The Kumari's caretakers are efficient, and they ensure that the Kumari is always well taken care of. The Kumari is well loved by all, and she is always seen with a smile on her face.
Kyoto to Kathmandu

There may be some bullying through environmental "tools of diplomacy," but Nepal has at a shot at avoiding development's "dirty" phase.

Antonio analyzes the implications of the Kyoto treaty for Nepal, a country with a growing body of scientists calling for reductions in carbon dioxide emissions of up to 60 percent, the compromises that have been made in the Kyoto protocol, what the Kyoto treaty means for developing countries, and the implications of the treaty for the world climate.

Argentina's financial crisis points to a deeper malaise in emerging markets. Argentina, now in a huge financial crisis, has two choices. At worst, it may have to default on its debt, causing a huge drop in its currency and devastating the country's economy. At best, it may be able to negotiate a new loan package from its creditors, but this will only delay the inevitable. The question is, what is the best way to deal with Argentina's crisis?

Argentina's financial crisis points to a deeper malaise in emerging markets. Argentina, now in a huge financial crisis, has two choices. At worst, it may have to default on its debt, causing a huge drop in its currency and devastating the country's economy. At best, it may be able to negotiate a new loan package from its creditors, but this will only delay the inevitable. The question is, what is the best way to deal with Argentina's crisis?

Argentina's financial crisis points to a deeper malaise in emerging markets. Argentina, now in a huge financial crisis, has two choices. At worst, it may have to default on its debt, causing a huge drop in its currency and devastating the country's economy. At best, it may be able to negotiate a new loan package from its creditors, but this will only delay the inevitable. The question is, what is the best way to deal with Argentina's crisis?

Argentina's financial crisis points to a deeper malaise in emerging markets. Argentina, now in a huge financial crisis, has two choices. At worst, it may have to default on its debt, causing a huge drop in its currency and devastating the country's economy. At best, it may be able to negotiate a new loan package from its creditors, but this will only delay the inevitable. The question is, what is the best way to deal with Argentina's crisis?
In today's China, the environment is as important as the economy.

TIGER’S NEW SYMMETRY

Singapore rekindles its dependence on China.

Singapore, a city-state that once saw itself as Asia’s financial hub, is now increasingly turning to China for its economic survival. The country has become a major manufacturing base for Chinese companies, with many Singaporean companies setting up operations in China to take advantage of the lower labor costs and stronger currency. This has resulted in a shift in the country’s economic priorities, with a greater focus on developing relationships with China.

WHAT NOT TO DO IN PAKISTAN

Pakistan's high ground's inability to stop the terror threat is evident in the recent attacks on the Chinese consulate in karachi. The country has failed to control the terrorism that has been plaguing it for years. The government's efforts to address the issue have been ineffective, and the situation remains critical.

SINGAPORE

Singapore is a city-state that has long been seen as a model of economic success. However, it faces challenges in maintaining its status as a global financial hub. The country is facing a skills shortage and a decline in its labor force, which is affecting its ability to maintain its position as a leader in the Asia-Pacific region.

THAILAND

Thailand is a popular tourist destination, but it faces challenges in maintaining its tourism industry. The country's economy is heavily dependent on tourism, and it has been hit by a number of issues, including political instability and the ongoing conflict in the country.

PAKISTAN

Pakistan is facing a number of challenges, including political instability and economic difficulties. The country is also struggling to address the issue of terrorism, which remains a significant threat.

CHINA

China is a major economic power, and its influence is growing. However, it faces challenges in maintaining its position as a leader in the Asia-Pacific region. The country is facing a skills shortage and a decline in its labor force, which is affecting its ability to maintain its position as a leader in the Asia-Pacific region.
Sanjiv S Soreng

In the past few decades American literature has made greater space for minority writers and writers from other cultures. For example, Acharya, putting Acharya into confrontation with the loss of his own powers. In “Deepak Misra’s Secretary” a Rejects a perfectly aristocratic, Noble and discovering my book. I’ve begun to receive emails from readers across the country. Reviews are appearing in English literature from Nepal has, by and large, been scattered, hard to find, and altogether easy to overlook—until now, ... by US-based Mariner Books/Houghton Mifflin Company, of Samrat Upadhyay’s short story collection, Arresting God in Kathmandu. The tradition exists most...
NEPALI TIMES 31 AUGUST - 4 SEPTEMBER 2007

BY LINH NGUYEN

Shorts

1Friendship and the quest for knowledge behind the Rainbow Bridge.
2A bird’s-eye view of the Himalayas, the living history of the great mountain range.
3The mystery of the universe and the quest for understanding.
4A journey to the heart of nature.

CLASSIFIED

Nepali and Hindi movies

NEPALI TIMES

KATHMANDU VALLEY

SECRET OF THE VAJRA WORLD: THE TANTRIC BUDDHISM OF TIBET
by Geshe Thubten Phende
Kathmandu University Press, 2001

The Great Treatise on the Stages of the Path to Enlightenment
by Je Tsongkha Paljor Gelek
Shambhala Publications, Boston, 2001

The Tree of Wisdom: The Tantric Buddhism of Tibet
by Geshe Thubten Phende
Kathmandu University Press, 2001

Just a relaxed, easy-going bar and restaurant with the coldest beer and juiciest steaks this way. A host of attractions made the place a hit with both locals and tourists.

“Akkhara music and dance” by Emile Hassan Dyer, on Jumbo, Friday, 31 August. Times: 8.30pm. Bajrakantha, Keshimay, Rangri. Free entry, special cocktail, free snacks and live music.

“Lasting memories.” By John Dingley, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. Those who have been to Nepal will never forget the trip. The hot weather, the cold drinks, the restaurant.Botega Falcon, Boudha. Rs 250.

“Happy hours at Galaxy Club.” By Tham Bahadur Thapa, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The happy hour is a must for all club goers. Galaxy Club, Hotel Everest. Rs 100.

“Trekking, sightseeing, exploring.” By Ramesh Chandra Chandak, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The trekking offers a fresh view of the surrounding landscape. British Mountaineering Club, Darbar Marg. Rs 222, 248.

“Trekking, sightseeing, exploring.” By Ramesh Chandra Chandak, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The trekking offers a fresh view of the surrounding landscape. British Mountaineering Club, Darbar Marg. Rs 222, 248.

“Alfa UV Water Purifier.” By Bishnu Prasad Thapa, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The water purifier is an effective solution to safe water for your home. Daily Kathmandu, August 31. Rs 200.

“Lamrim Chenmo Translation Committee.” By Tenzin Tharchin, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The committee is responsible for translating the Lamrim Chenmo. Lamrim Chenmo Translation Committee, Darbar Marg. Rs 200.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.

“Lagos.” By Hemlata, on Daily Kathmandu, August 31. The restaurant offers a relaxed atmosphere
and delicious food. Lagos, Bhrikuti Mandap. Rs 500.
Under My Hat

No laughing matter

Just as we had suspected all along, the Nepal Tourism Board has shown that it takes itself very seriously. A member has taken strong umbrage to a recent column on this space. Rarely do we get a glimpse of the inner workings of a private-public stakeholder, so in the national interest and to respect the public's right to know, we are reprinting herewith the saidmissive:

Letter to the Editor

It is always interesting to go through Nepali Times which covers the news in threadbare focussing on the contemporary issues of our nation. An irregular contributor, read of the staff at Nepal Tourism Board has gone through this paper regularly. However, this issue of 17-23 August 2001 on the "Under My Hat" column "The Valley of the Chiefs" has caused me to respond:

The news column's aim of criticism is to offer profound apologies to all concerned (and we note we get libel suit) to the said column. There is a need to reflect on the consequences of the words we use with discretion and dispassion. It is always interesting to go through Nepali Times focusing on the contemporary issues of our nation. An irregular contributor, read of the staff at Nepal Tourism Board has gone through this paper regularly. However, this issue on the "Under My Hat" column "The Valley of the Chiefs" has caused me to respond:

It is always interesting to go through Nepali Times which covers the news in threadbare focusing on the contemporary issues of our nation. An irregular contributor, read of the staff at Nepal Tourism Board has gone through this paper regularly. However, this issue on the "Under My Hat" column "The Valley of the Chiefs" has caused me to respond:

It is indeed with deep sorrow and heartfelt regret that this scribe has come to the realisation of the profound wrong that he has committed. He has inadvertently let down the very individuals whose job it is to be our best friends. How, after all the trust that they have bestowed upon human beings since the dawn of civilisation, will he ever make up for the incalculable and irreversible shame he has brought down on the entire animal kingdom by being so callously cynical and sarcastic?

This week's column is an act of contrition to offer profuse apologies to all canines great and not-so-great who felt alluded to in the said column. There is nothing to be apologetic about if our questions are not deep. But that is a given. The eager canines in the audience of the show "Nagad Panch Lakh (500,000 Cash)" which I have put together after "Who Wants to be a Millionaire?" and "Amul Crorepati" have already won Rs 125,000 last week. How thoughtless of me to make light of the infinite contribution made by the Valley's dogs to this nation's long-term development by steadfastly refusing to wag their tails. What an affront it must have been to feed the hand that bites us, especially since their bite is much worse than their bark.

Jokes aside, this is no laughing matter. The sooner we take this country's problems deadseriously the better it will be for all and sundry, especially the concerned authorities. In this case, it is crucial to ensure that the show's education and information content is effective. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television.

We are facing growing problems; there is no lack of things to sort out. The education and information content is crucial to ensuring that our young people are more knowledgeable about their country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television.

This week's column is an act of contrition to offer profuse apologies to all canines great and not-so-great who felt alluded to in the said column. There is nothing to be apologetic about if our questions are not deep. But that is a given. The eager canines in the audience of the show "Nagad Panch Lakh (500,000 Cash)" which I have put together after "Who Wants to be a Millionaire?" and "Amul Crorepati" have already won Rs 125,000 last week. How thoughtless of me to make light of the infinite contribution made by the Valley's dogs to this nation's long-term development by steadfastly refusing to wag their tails. What an affront it must have been to feed the hand that bites us, especially since their bite is much worse than their bark.

Jokes aside, this is no laughing matter. The sooner we take this country's problems deadseriously the better it will be for all and sundry, especially the concerned authorities. In this case, it is crucial to ensure that the show's education and information content is effective. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television. The education and entertainment content of this programme, he reasoned, would go a long way in making young Nepalis more knowledgeable about their own country and world—especially given the present mediocrities of entertainment on television.